

MetaProducts Corporation

Company Information

MetaProducts Corporation ("MP") develops scalable web spidering and file download applications and services for the Internet, providing solutions which range from highly specialized data gathering and file transmission tools to larger, broader-based server applications.

The company was founded in 1997 with the mission of designing, developing and marketing high-quality Internet applications in a virtual company environment. MetaProducts, the winner of dozens of awards since 1997, is a recognized leader in spidering and file download technology. The company's success is a result of its long-range commitment to the development of high quality, world-class applications—and its commitment to providing excellent customer support.

Products and Markets

With the proliferation of the Internet and e-businesses, there has never been a more critical need for sophisticated spidering technologies and solutions. Today, as national and international--public and private--networks merge and organizations increasingly expand their businesses to the Internet, MetaProducts Corporation products continue to evolve to address this critical need.

The company's products and services include the Offline Explorer family of products, the world's most widely distributed offline browser and file downloading programs on the Internet. Offline Explorer is the fastest and most accurate offline browser in the world, able to download millions of Web sites accurately and simultaneously. Mass Downloader, a file downloading utility, is the fastest and easiest-to-use file downloading utility on the Internet.

Other products include MetaProducts Inquiry, a sophisticated but easy to use “Navigate and Save” Internet research manager that allows users to save web pages (or selected text) for later use, and includes comprehensive Export and Citation features; the award-winning and wide-ranging TrayIcon family of products, which provide easy launch and display utilities for your desktop, as well as a number of other system management utilities. In fact, most of our programs have received the highest awards available at the top shareware sites in the world, including ZDnet, TuCows and C|Net.

For more information about our products please visit our Products section or contact our Customer Service Center.

Services

In addition to its line of software products, MetaProducts also provides a wide range of custom programming, authoring and consulting services. We not only develop new products for our clients, but we will customize any of our own products to meet your business needs, including offering special co-branding or private label options. For more information about our services please visit our Services section.

Customers

MetaProducts' customer base ranges from individual customers to small and medium-sized businesses to Fortune 500 corporations, educational institutions and professional legal organizations from around the world. Thousands of copies of our products are downloaded every day on the Internet from over 123 countries.